

Clearwater’s in-house training provides organisations with an interactive learning experience. Our trainers are experts in their field and bring a wealth of knowledge and experience.

Each session is designed to:

- Improve participants’ knowledge and skills to effectively maintain Water Sensitive Urban Design (WSUD) assets
- Build organisational capacity, collaboration and commitment on the topic
- Identify and drive further action to address priority issues

Session outcomes

- Participants understand the basic concepts of WSUD and Integrated Water Management (IWM) – what it is and why we are doing it?
- Participants are familiar with the principles of WSUD assets including their function and key components - this enables them to better understand maintenance needs and implications.
- Participants have the skills to carry out maintenance inspections of WSUD assets using supporting checklists.
- Participants have a shared understanding of their organisations’ approach to WSUD asset maintenance
- Participants build and improve relationships with colleagues who manage WSUD assets

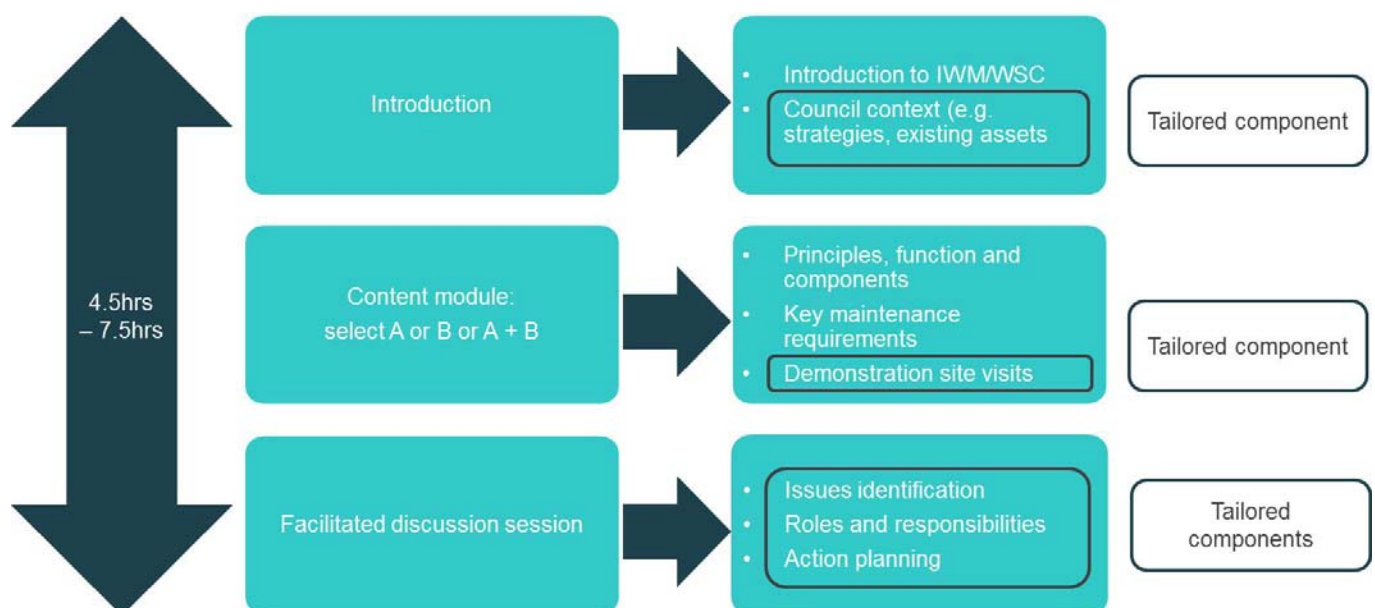

Content modules

We currently offer two modules which focus on different WSUD assets:

- Module A – Maintenance of WSUD Street-scale Assets
- Module B – Maintenance of Constructed Wetlands

Note: In addition to the above, we are in the process of developing a Stormwater Harvesting session as an addition to the above module options. Please contact us directly should you be interested in this product.

Session plan

Tailored components

Each session incorporates a number of tailored components enabling you to communicate your organisation's strategies and plans to build awareness and buy-in. In particular, the facilitated discussion with action planning activities at the end of the session encourages staff feedback and discussion on current maintenance issues. This final session will also work with your staff to determine what is required to develop ongoing commitment for managing these assets.

Costs

Costs are based on Clearwater delivering the session in-house to a group of 15- 20 participants and around Melbourne's Metropolitan Area.

Module	Delivery timeframe (approx.)	Cost ex GST
Module A or B	4.5hrs	$5,900
Module A + B	7.5hrs	$7,400

Timeframes

To allow enough time to successfully plan your session we require at least 6 weeks between the training agreement sign-off and the delivery of the training course.
