Delivering Value in Integrated Water Management: How Much are 'Multiple Benefits' Really Worth?

Thursday, 26th February, 2015

8.00am—10.00am

Victoria University - City Convention Centre

Level 12, 300 Flinders St, Melbourne

An integrated approach to urban water management will deliver a range of benefits: healthy waterways, water security, reduction of flooding, greener neighbourhoods and thriving communities—but which of these benefits really drive change? Will we be able to recognise an economic benefit to underpin a business case? Who will realise the returns and are they willing to pay?

This seminar brings together a series of industry experts working in strategic water planning, resource economics and urban design who will share their perspectives on what key stakeholders and communities value and how we need to shape the industry to provide a better case for action and investment in the coming year.

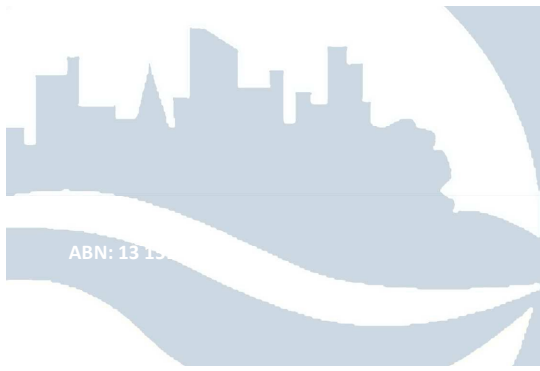

Join Stormwater Victoria and Clearwater for what promises to be informative Seminar featuring some of the industries leading professionals on Integrated Water Management. A light breakfast, tea and coffee will be served on arrival for all registered delegates.

This event will benefit practitioners involved in strategic water management, urban planning, and green infrastructure from the local government, water retailers, consultants and developer sectors.

Presenters:

- Anne Barker, Managing Director, City West Water
- Joel Byrnes, Principal Economist, E2Designlab
- Jon Shinkfield, AILA President, Senior Research Fellow of the CRC for Water Sensitive Cities and Director of REALM Studios
