

Building capacity for integrated water management

Funded & hosted by:

Contact us www.clearwatervic.com.au Email info@clearwatervic.com.au Phone 9679 7711 Connect with us

www.clearwatervic.com.au

This publication was produced in January 2020 Information was accurate at the time of printing

Transforming the way we think about water

The way water is managed influences our sustainability, resilience, liveability and productivity. Community, government and business are increasingly working together to address complex challenges associated with climate change, population growth and urbanisation.

Clearwater works with the Victorian water industry to address some of these issues by transforming the way we manage water program supports professionals, organisations and the sector to take a holistic approach to water management by strengthening their skills, knowledge and networks across Victoria.

Integrated water management (IWM) is at the heart of each and every activity that Clearwater undertakes. We bring the right people together from the start from different organisations and disciplines to consider all aspects of a project and realise the best outcomes for the community.

Our support

Connected with renowned experts

Clearwater has a long history of successfully collaborating with renowned experts to deliver high quality workshops and resources. Well connected across the industry, Clearwater has partnerships with experts from consultancies and academia in a range of fields including water sensitive urban design, strategic planning, maintenance and stormwater management.

Quality online resource library

Our free online resources are well regarded in the industry and are continuously evolving keeping pace with the latest research and projects. The resource library features a wide range of materials including case studies, videos, factsheets, tools, papers, presentations, interactive toolkits, reports and publications.

The library

- 60+ Case studies
- 50+ Videos
- 60+ Factsheets and tools
- 50+ Papers and presentations
- 80+ Reports and publications

Our goal

How we help

Skills Improving practitioner skills to overcome IWM implementation challenges

Networks

and relationships industries

Institutional rules and incentives

Fostering networks within and across

VISION - Healthy environments and thriving communities.

Knowledge & Delivery Partners

 Knowledge Sector Industry Associations

- Local Government
- Private Sector
- Consultants

Public training, tours, workshops, case studies. Clearwater website and resource library

Tailored and specialised training workshops delivered in-house to organisations

Knowledge sharing and network building events, collaborative learning, site tours capacity

Information and tools to improve understanding and participation in reforms/policy

Contact us Visit our website www.clearwatervic.com.au to check out the latest workshops, online resource library and subscribe to our eNews. Email info@clearwatervic.com.au Connect with us Join our LinkedIn page

PURPOSE - Clearwater actively enhances the capacity of government and water-sector organisations to undertake sustainable water management and sustainable development through knowledge-sharing, skills-development and network-building.

State Government /Agencies

Community

Community value is achieved through the increased capacity of Clearwater's customer – government and water-sector organisation – to meet the needs and aspirations of their customers – the community